Basics

Default view says words are tools free selves use to describe a pre-existing world in time

But without words & their meanings there is neither a sense of self nor awareness of world in time

A world and a self, really exist or not, is also an opinion of words that duly arise and subside

Time & Self

Word, read, said, heard, thought, is sense of time Words, symbols, are sensations in self evident now, their meanings point beyond now to past and future:
yesterday, will do, had to, how, when, is, any name

Sense of time is also sense of self self is that which is aware of time explicitly as - I did, I want, my life, implicitly, narrator, listener, witness

(a name/label implies persistence in time)

Self Reference (pun intended)

I know that words arise and subside, only because previous line meant so I do not know this "I" that claims to know, except as mentioned thrice in earlier lines

Godel's Grandmother

"Words come in & go out of experience, arise & subside", are words with meanings are sense of past, time, sense of self aware of time
So is this meta description

Space & Matter

Without words, self evident moment, undivided, meaning of words, the skin, the fence, separates Space becomes space, matter becomes matter, as narratives embed, point, to bring them to life

Evolution

Believed world is made up of matter-energy, space-time sought its bricks in quantum processes, quarks and similar

Realized sensations are more primitive, basis for above, they are not just present in waking, but also in dreaming

Now see ONLY sensation of words, symbols, as fundamental their MEANINGS, awareness of everything, even sensations

World revealed by meanings is - the ONLY world there is what is when words aren't experienced - has no meaning

Above does not say an individual's understanding has evolved, words are: me, understanding, time to evolve, this description

IT

Words with their meanings describe IT in various ways

Space, matter, energy i.e. people, rivers, quanta, galaxy

Sensations i.e. sight, sound, touch, smell, emotion, taste

IT is - as waking, dreaming and hallucination

IT is not - as sleep, before birth, after death

IT is gap between words, words, background

As the experience of meaning, so IT appears when words are not, IT neither is, nor is not

Alas, these too were words; IT is mysterious

What is The Truth-Reality-Enlightenment-Nirvana?

Resolution of all doubts? Realizing oneness with the Universe?
Permanent cessation of suffering? Ultimate continued ecstasy?
Communion with Higher power? Proof of a soul's immortality?

All the above & more, are they not transient words+meanings, along with the one who seeks and the time involved to get it?
So too this description, your response & question that initiated

Summary of Summaries

Words+meanings, as rational, can surely know, they are transient, that they come and then go, meanings - awareness of self, time, everything, what is when words are not is beyond meaning, all these too are non random words+meanings, & this is enough to resolve every doubt there is
