

Self-Contained

Words are separation: space-matter, past-present-future, self-non self, is-is not

Words are questions based on that separation

Words are criterion for validity of answers: self-evident, consistent, whatever

Words are answers - this view or that evidence, this theory or that proof

Words are verifications of those answers, their acceptance as well as rejection

Words reflect on words - like in the present case

Words THANKFULLY point to a simple way to break their spell on themselves:

Shhhhhh, quiet

(Words = symbols = sensations with meanings – read, heard, spoken, thought)